Once upon a time in Carvoeiro, Algarve, there was a charming detached villa awaiting its new owner. This 2-bedroom villa with an additional office room, heated pool and garage boasted a spacious living area of 155 square meters on a generous plot of 2000 square meters.

Inside, a fully fitted kitchen with a large stove, American-style fridge, and traditional Portuguese tile backsplash offered a delightful culinary experience. The kitchen overlooked the mature garden, while the living room provided direct access to the outdoor space through sliding doors. A wood burner and air conditioning ensured comfort in all seasons.

The master bedroom featured a double bed, built-in wardrobes, and air conditioning, while the second bedroom offered versatility with two single beds, freestanding wardrobes, and a ceiling fan. Two bathrooms, one with a bath and the other with a shower, provided convenience.

The villa's extra room served as an office but could easily be transformed into a third bedroom, children's bedroom, or gaming room. Outside, the stunning mature garden revealed surprises at every turn. The pool area boasted a heated pool, lush grass, and an outdoor shower. An electric gate provided access to the driveway, featuring covered parking and magnificent palm trees. A garage and even grapevines added to the property's allure.

In summary, this Carvoeiro villa offered a serene haven with its beautiful design, spacious rooms, inviting garden, and a heated pool—an exceptional opportunity in the Algarve.
